Three weeks in a mud hut

The International Club in Foulum invites you to a slide show lecture with Janne Hansen on Wednesday, 25 February 2009 from 3:00-4:00 pm in meeting room 2 in Foulum

Everyone is welcome – bring your spouse, if you like. It’s free!

Would you like to imagine yourself away from the chilly, grey Danish winter for an hour? Then come to the slide show lecture “Three weeks in a mud hut” by Janne Hansen in which she tells the tale of her experience of a lifetime: living with a Kenyan farmer family as the first white person ever to live in the local way in the little village of Atereit in western Kenya on the border of Uganda.

By sleeping in a mud hut, fetching water, harvesting groundnuts, walking to the local market, eating the local food, visiting the local church, school and medical services, Janne Hansen got to know the local people more intimately than most visitors.

Come and share what she learned from their daily life and what they think about aids, foreign aid, women’s rights, farming and white people. Amusing, amazing and eye-opening!

Please note that the date for the slide show lecture is 25 February and not 11 February as originally announced in the brochure from the International Club.

Janne Hansen was sent on the mission to the Kenyan family by the national newspaper Morgenavisen Jyllands-Posten and reported back every day on the internet (when technically possible!). Check out the stories (in Danish) and photos at http://viden.jp.dk/undervisning/sites/3uger/projektet/deudsendte/default.asp?cid=6134